My relationship with music is unique.

My relationship with music is unique. My musical range is very wide because I don't like specific musical genres, it is true that I have more preference for some than others but in general I tend to be guided more by what the music makes me feel while I listen to it. Some songs make me feel angry, others make me feel happy, others make me relive past moments and that is what makes that song stay in my head for a long time. It's impressive how you can go years without listening to a song that you liked a long time ago and just by listening to a few seconds of the melody you can instantly remember the entire song. Music has helped me a lot in my life and I am very grateful for it. By the way... I hate Regaetton.
